HYDE PRESENTS
MCNARY BILL
TO COMMITTEE

Tells Senate Group of $300,000,000 Revolving Fund Plan

POINTS OUT PROBLEMS

Says That Last Election Was Mandate for Co-operative Relief

WASHINGTON, April 3 (U.P.)—The administration's general endorsement of the McNary co-operative marketing bill was given to the Senate Agricultural Committee today by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde.

Hyde advocated establishment of a $300,000,000 revolving fund to be administered by the Federal Farm Loan Board, clothed with general and broad authority to work out a solution of the marketing problem. Hyde said he considered the result of the last election a mandate from the people to the administration and Congress to establish this general formula of relief.

Wants Full Power For Board
The new agricultural secretary cautioned the committee particularly to give the board full power to work its own destiny. It should promote, he said, such agencies as "farmers' elevators, clearing houses, and farmers' pools, which are all a part of farmers' co-operatives."

"It is largely upon these organizations that we should build the foundation of collective action of the farmer," he continued.

"It would seem to me desirable that the board, armed with resources and authority, could best work out the plan of receiving proposals from the various farmers' marketing associations. These proposals in many instances can well take the form of corporations created by these associations and owned and managed by them, and aided with capital from the board, under such restrictions as the board should be authorized to apply."

"Of these restrictions, it would seem to me desirable to insist that no operations should be supported which would stimulate increased production, because by adding to a surplus we must defeat all relief," Mr. Hyde said.

Board Must Make Its Own History
There is little in the way of accumulated experience to guide the board. It must make its own history, and guide each succeeding step it takes by the experience gained from the last."

Questioning of Hyde by members of the committee developed that he had discussed his farm views with President Hoover, but he would not say whether Mr. Hoover's views were reflected in his statement.

Hyde's testimony was the first statement from the administration concerning the farm relief bill to be made in the special session of Congress which President Hoover has called to meet here a week from Monday.

Hyde pointed out other problems to be met in a general farm relief program which probably could not be included in the pending bill.

STATE WILL JUNK UNUSED MACHINES

$4958 Spent by Prison Board for Equipment, Now Worth $461

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 3 (U.P.)—The State Prison Board in May, 1927, spent $4958 for flour mill machinery which has never been used and which must be junked, it was revealed today in a report by accountants for the Public Service Commission showing the assets of the industrial department of the penitentiary.

The flour mill machinery was bought five weeks after the senate had confirmed the appointment of Dr. Cortez F. Enloe and his associates as members of the prison board.

The report of the accountants was made to Gov. Henry S. Caulfield, who had requested that a valuation be made of the assets of the prison industries.

The governor said he had been informed that it would have cost more than $40,000 to install the flour mill machinery which was bought by the board. Even with its installation it would have cost more for the penitentiary to produce the flour than it was then paying on the open market for flour, according to Gov. Caulfield.

The engineers placed the junk value of the machinery at $461.

HOUSE ENACTS BILLS TO CURB RACKETEERING

Measures to Senate Today—Heavy Penalties Provided

REP. MEYER IS AUTHOR

Primary Election Act Is Passed and Sent to Upper Body

JEFFERSON CITY, April 3 (U.P.)—A series of bills, passed by the House yesterday and designed to help curb the operations of bandits, gangsters, and racketeers in Missouri, was sent to the Senate today.

The first of the bills makes the possession or sale of a machine gun a felony punishable by fine of not more than $5000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary of not more than three years.

Representative E. R. Meyer of Kansas City, author of the bill, was prompted to introduce the bill because Kansas City bank bandits, who shot down "Happy" Smith, traffic officer, last June, used a machine gun in their operations.

Mr. Meyer also was the author of the anti-bombing bill, which was passed without opposition, and the model arson act.

The model arson bill imposes imprisonment of from two to twenty years for any person who willfully and maliciously sets fire or procures the burning of any dwelling house or any building.

The Krause bill, passed by the House recently, providing the death penalty for bombing a building where lives are endangered, is now pending before a Senate committee.

Primary Election Bill to Caulfield
The passage of a bill yesterday by the House providing the method for conducting a primary election virtually means that such a measure will be passed by both branches of the General Assembly and sent to Gov. Caulfield for his approval.

A similar bill was introduced by the Senate yesterday without opposition. The House also passed a bill by representative A. H. Baldwin, authorizing the State Board of Health to contract for the hospitalization and treatment of crippled children.

Relatives of the other bills passed by the House were:

One which prohibits judges in courts of record in Jackson County and St. Louis from appointing any relative to an official capacity where common law allows. The act also prohibits the judge from appointing the business partner of any relative to such office.

One providing for the labeling of vegetable seed sold or offered for sale, and placing the administration of the act under the State Board of Agriculture.

One creating a bipartisan commission of six members to draft a uniform set of laws on the conservation of fish, game, and forestry for presentation to the next Legislature. The commission would serve without salary but would receive traveling expenses.

One providing a penalty for selling lots before plat is recorded with the county.

The proposed bills on budgetary and central purchasing will be considered as a special order of business in the Senate Friday morning. Senator Nick T. Cave, majority floor leader announced today.

A measure which allows the Workmen's Compensation Commission the authority to appoint referees to assist in its work was engrossed by the Senate today.
